In the voting contest for the gold cross and necklace presented by Bishop Fink and Father Hurley, 3,701 were cast. Miss Erwin, of Chapman, having received the greatest number of votes, was awarded the cross and necklace.

The voting contest for the gentlemen's easy chair had four candidates, viz: John Landrigan, Dennis Hickey, Uncle John Scanlan and Dan Staurt; 520 votes were cast; Dan Staurt was the popular man and in consequence was awarded the chair.

A china tea set was voted to the most popular married lady at the fair; 1,256 votes were polled in this contest; the candidates were Mrs. P. Scanlan, Mrs. T. Howe, and Mrs. M. Waters; Mrs.
M. Waters received the highest number of votes and took the china set.

A fine picture was voted between the following young misses: Nellie Sheeran, Mary Hogan, and Bridget Nast. Nellie Sheeran came out ahead.
Painting of the Sacred Heart was voted between Lizzie Quirk, Maggie Hinchey and Annie Howe.
The last named young miss was the victor in this contest.

Gross receipts of the fair, $3,500; expenses, $384; net proceeds, $3,116.

Father Hurley and the Catholic congregation at Chapman return sincere thanks to friends in Davis and Dickinson counties, and to benefactors abroad, who by donating and patronage contributed to make the fair the grand success that it was. The dining tables, Chapman fancy table, candy table, fish pond, shooting table, fish pond, shooting gallery, etc., were presided over by members of the Chapman congregation. The Jun-co city fancy table was in charge of Mrs. T.

Waters, of Ft. Riley, assisted by Mrs. Lowe, Miss E. Dixon and Miss L. Potter.

Mrs. D. W. Nallie and E. J. Snyder superintended the raffling.

The ladies and gentlemen in charge of the different departments deserve praise for their efficient management, and well merited success that attended their first fair in Chapman.

The managers of the fair return thanks to G.
W. Martin for $10 printing donated; to Abilene Reflector, $10 printing; to Abilene Gazette, Enterprise Register and to Junction City Tribune for kindly notices of the fair, and also to the Mc-Namee brothers for donating the services of the Wetford band during two nights of the fair.

Two Sides to Everything.

Our esteemed republican contemporaries have been delighting themselves with the beautiful wave and flutter of the "bloody shirt." The late Danville, Virginia, riot furnishes the text for this amusement. The contaminating and debasing influences of Mahoneism in Virginia politics became so unbearable that honest people revolted. Mahone, seeing his danger, inaugurated the riot at Danville as a last desperate resort. But his damnable scheme failed, unless it was a success as foreshadowing the complexion of the next campaign. The Republican party is forced to flaunt the "bloody shirt" in lieu of an honest record which it has not made during the past twenty years. But we have digressed. A dispatch to the associated press reads as follows:

"The committee of forty, appointed to investigate the facts connected with the riots of the 3rd inst., organized on the 12th inst., and appointed proper sub-committees. All persons having information in relation to the matters to be investigated were publicly requested to appear before the sub-committee to testify. The sub-committee regularly attended to the duties from the morning of the 13th to the evening of the 21st, during which time thirty-seven witnesses were examined. It is said the witnesses for the most part were known to the committee personally and represented all classes and vocations. They are intelligent and thoroughly reliable. The committee makes a careful and impartial review of all the facts connected with the riot. After speaking of the ill-feeling existing between the blacks and whites, the committee state that the negroes were the aggressors. The report adds: Two days before the election circulars, signed by prominent citizens and leaders of both parties, were issued guaranteeing to every person, without regard to color or party a free and undisturbed right of voting. No violence, threat or intimidation whatever was shown toward the negro or the coalition voters, but on the contrary such voters were repeatedly assured by citizens, policemen and military officers sent to Danville by the governor, that they would be protected in the right to vote as they choose. Election day was quiet, without any disturbance or difficulty at any precinct or elsewhere in the town, and the election itself was honestly conducted, free and fair in all respects. The negroes as a body refrained from voting, under the advice and command of their party leaders, while others voted the coalition ticket, without any hindrance from any quarter.

Doing A Powerful Lot of Thinking.

Atlanta Constitution.

Mr. Tilden saws wood and says nothing.

Dogs.

Chicago Herald.

An Iowa man has figured out that the dogs of that state eat enough annually to feed 100,000 workmen, and cost $9,000,000, counting the sheep they kill.
The education of the children of the state costs $4,000,000.

Why The Gains Were Large.

New York World.

Out in Springfield, O., they have a moon so strong and clear that the people love to lean up against a tree and read the Scriptures by its light. The democratic gains were unusually large this year in the Springfield district.

Taxation by Elephants.

Harford Telegram.

John Swinton figures out that it will require seventy elephants, Jumbo size, to carry William H. Vanderbilt's gold, and each elephant will have to lift five tons. An income tax to the amount of at least one elephant load a year would not be very burdensome to Vanderbilt.

A Marriage Notice From Utah.

Salt Lake Tribune.

Married in the endowment house last Thursday, to a second wife, John L.
Berry, of American Fork, aged about 60; first wife aged about 70 and in poor health; second wife a Danish woman, aged about 52, a widow, strong and healthy, and lives in the city.

Accurate Information.

Inter-Ocean.

Frank James is reported to be dying of consumption. A visit to his cell disclosed the fact that he is losing flesh rapidly. He says that he will die before the courts reach a settlement of his case. He is also penniless, and his cell is no longer richly furnished and upholstered as it was a year ago. He is awaiting trial at Gallatin, Mo., for the robbery of the Missouri Pacific Express train in 1881. Dick Liddil and the Ford brothers are the only members left of the gang who can be used as witnesses, and they are all under a cloud themselves.

Mr. Morrison Waxes Profane.

Washington Special.

The candidates all walk about in a very democratic way. When Randall sets out from his house on Capital hill he rides in a street car to the National hotel, and from there he lounges up the avenue on foot. Carlisle's pale face is seen about the hotel lobbies at intervals during the day. Both he and Randall are much alike in their manner. Cox is the most active upon his legs and fairly flies about when he leaves his rooms. He goes at members with a good deal more gush than any other of the candidates. Last night he came to William Morrison and fairly hugged him as he said: "Dear old Morrison, I am delighted to see you. Do you know you have been my favorite candidate for president for a number of years, and now New York has a claim for the first place, you are my favorite candidate for the second."

"Oh, h—!" said Colonel Morrison, "I had rather be justice of the peace than vice-president."
